

Solving the Financial Crisis by Thinking Globally and Acting Locally

Thinking Globally and Acting Locally is a set of out of the box solutions to the economic crisis. It is based upon the idea that taking a more global view of the world, coupled with taking personal responsibility, is the best chance we have as a nation. It is a call to arms to start discussing, and ultimately, taking action--actions which will protect us from the cycles of boom and bust will lead to a more sustainable and financially secure world.
