

The Divine Order of Human Society: Being the L. F. Stone Lectures for 1801, Delivered in Princeton Theological Seminary (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from The Divine Order of Human Society: Being the L. F. Stone Lectures for 1801, Delivered in Princeton Theological Seminary This book is made up of the eight lectures on Christian Sociology, I delivered, in February and March of the current year, on the L. P. Stone Foundation in Princeton Theological Seminary. In preparing them I had in view a larger audience than that which was to hear them. I have thought it best, in presenting them, not only to retain the lecture form, but to preserve in the text allusions to time and place, and to the class to which I was speaking. I may add that the kind reception of my lectures, by both faculty and students of the Seminary, has left with me some very agreeable memories of Princeton. At several points I have added to what I had time to say within the bounds of an oral lecture. At others I have transposed what I did say into what seemed a better order.
